

The Flag of Chile

Color the flag of the Chile. The bottom band is red, the star and the top right band are white and the square behind the star is blue.

The national flag of Chile is also known as the “Lone Star” and was adopted on October 18, 1817. The flag has three colors: red, white and blue. There are two horizontal bands of red {bottom} and white {top} and a blue square sits on top of the white band in the top left corner of the flag. A five-pointed white star is centered inside the blue square.

The white part of the Chile flag represents the snow-covered Andes mountains. The red symbolizes the blood that was shed for the freedom of Chile. The white star represents honor and the blue square symbolizes the sky.